Dear Current and Future Clients,

My name is Alan R. Eicken, age 55. I suffered a soft tissue injury on November 22, 2010 that resulted in a life changing experience. My subsequent visit to the emergency room on November 26th resulted in an X-Ray, addictive physically powerful pain medication and a similarly strong muscle relaxer. In mid-December I saw my family practitioner who examined me, prescribed more of the same. I was desperate for help, in excruciating pain despite the medication, and was very fortunate to meet Dr. Ryan Hartman.

Mere words cannot express my appreciation for Dr. Hartman's conscientious efforts on my behalf. It's significant for the reader to know after my first or second appointment with Dr. Hartman, I thought it prudent to ask my family doctor for a referral to a Neurologist in the event something far more serious was involved. I saw the Neurologist in the third week of December and underwent extremely unpleasant neurological testing that amounted to a analysis for carpal tunnel syndrome. I saw the same Neurologist on January 5, 2011 for a very expensive consultation and by that time I experienced such momentous help and relief from Dr. Hartman's work, the Neurologist said do nothing and come back in a month.

My job responsibilities (a business owner) don't allow me to miss work, and since a week before Thanksgiving my wife singlehandedly not only get us through the holidays with guests from both sides of the family, but handled every chore inside and out; cleaning the driveway, walk the dog, the list is endless. My condition was so poor when Dr. Ryan began treating me I could sit up at my desk, go home and lay in bed. I think it's quite obvious Dr. Ryan Hartman has done more for me than a battery of health care professionals in less time and at a fraction of the cost. Today marks almost a month with no meds and no pain.

Dr. Hartman's expertise and comprehensive philosophy extends beyond adjustments and he has earned a life-long client in me.

Alan R. Eicken-Pres.
